

GET THESE SPLENDID Nebiolo revivals FROM CANADA TYPE AT EXTRAORDINARY PRICES*

*VALID THRU MAY 17, 2013

During the past ten years, Toronto's Canada Type, the independent foundry led by Rebecca Alaccari and Patrick Griffin, has digitized a large number of typefaces by Aldo Novarese and other Italian designers, fonts that were orphaned after the demise of Torino's Nebiolo foundry. Three families are offered to visitors of the Kerning Conference at a special discount — until May, 17.
